APPLICATION EVALUATION

Each set of application materials received by the due date will be reviewed by members of the selection committee. Independent ratings are based on professional training and experiences thus far, writing, and professional letters of recommendation. The selection criteria focus on all aspects of the application materials, with emphasis placed on background training, experience, and an applicant's clear articulation of training goals and professional aspirations, and overall fit.

After a score is calculated, the selection committee addresses significant discrepancies in scores, and determines the cut-off score to participate in the interview process.

Interviews are typically planned for March, but this can vary based on the schedules of applicants. In addition to being interviewed by three members of the Selection Committee, applicants will have the opportunity to meet current interns, fellows, and staff members, as well as participate in a tour of the facility. Telephone interviews are available for applicants who are unable to attend in person.

Following all interviews, the Selection Committee will meet to identify the top candidates and alternates for the two postdoctoral positions. These selections are based on an integration of file and interview ratings, with the entire list of interviewees being reviewed to ensure that all candidates have received fair and equal consideration.

The Clinical Psychology Postdoctoral Program at Utah State Hospital has applied for membership in the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC) and will abide by all APPIC guidelines regarding fellowship recruitment and notification procedures.
